How we work

We provide our clients with a team-based approach and a commitment to partner involvement and regular client contact – for every client, for every engagement. We are committed to being proactive and responsive in serving our clients, we go beyond what's expected to deliver more.

Why Raymond Chabot Grant Thornton

Our clients benefit from our methodologies and extensive network which offers unrivalled proximity to local offices and businesses. This makes it possible for business executives to have direct access to highly technical experts and specialists who have a very good grasp of their situation, issues and objectives. Our professionals are leaders in their field and offer outstanding service to clients in both local and international markets.

We do our utmost and use all the necessary resources to help dynamic organizations reach their full growth potential.

Our clients

Serving small, medium and large companies as well as public and para-public organizations, our Firm works with tens of thousands of clients in every sector of economic and social activity.

What we do

We work closely with clients by proposing practical and personalised solutions and finding national and international business opportunities. We use a dynamic approach and propose profitable solutions adapted to all types of clientele in all of our multidisciplinary groups.

Our three main market segments are entrepreneurial companies, public companies and the public-parapublic sector. We have extensive expertise in all key sectors of the economy and stay abreast of current events and major challenges affecting Quebec regions and its neighbouring provinces.

Deeply rooted in their communities, all of our offices abide by the same norms of high quality and professionalism. In major metropolitan centres or in the regions, our highly motivated professionals are always available for their clients and offer superior quality service, thanks to our high professional standards.
